WELCOMING THE WORLD TO PERTH

Established in 1997, the Greenhouse Gas Control Technologies (GHGT) conference series is the premier international forum dedicated to greenhouse gas reduction technologies – with a focus on carbon capture, utilisation, and storage (CCUS). GHGT-18, which will be held in Perth, Western Australia in 2026, will educate, inspire, and lay the foundation for international collaboration to accelerate commercial-scale development of CCUS technologies worldwide.

Australia is a global leader in CCS research, development and deployment, underpinned by over two decades of coordinated industry and government efforts and international collaboration. The country is home to two of the world's largest CCS projects operating – the Chevron Gorgon CCS Project in Western Australia and the Santos and Beach Energy Moomba CCS Project in South Australia.

Australia's CCS journey began in 1998 with the landmark GEODISC Project, which assessed the continent's carbon dioxide storage potential. That same year, Perth hosted the first Australian CCS conference – making it a fitting home for GHGT-18, 28 years later.

Perth is now a hub for CCS innovation, with major project developers and research facilities based in the region, as well as world-class CCS research facilities. In October 2026, GHGT-18 will welcome industry leaders, government officials, business partners, and cleantech innovators from around the globe – all united by a common goal: advancing technology, innovation, and greenhouse gas (GHG) mitigation.

Co-hosted by an Australian consortium – Australian Energy Producers, CO2CRC, CSIRO and Geoscience Australia – GHGT-18 will take place at the iconic the Crown Perth. This state-of-the-art venue offers an inspiring space for ideas, networking, and partnership-building, set against Perth's stunning riverside backdrop.

Through keynote speeches, panel discussions, plenary sessions, and thought-provoking oral and e-poster presentations, GHGT-18 will explore emerging and innovative technologies from idea to implementation, concept to commercialisation.

Join us in Perth – where innovation meets action. GHGT-18 will be a global catalyst for the next wave of CCUS development.

ABOUT IEAGHG

The IEA Greenhouse Gas R&D Programme (IEAGHG) are the custodians of the GHGT conference series. Formed in 1991 the IEAGHG is currently supported by its 39 members.

IEAGHG is one of the IEA's Technology Collaboration Programmes (TCPs). The TCPs help accelerate energy technology innovation by ensuring stakeholders from both the public and private sector share knowledge, work collaboratively and, where appropriate, pool resources to deliver integrated and cost-effective solutions.

The Technology Collaboration Programme on Greenhouse Gas R&D (GHG TCP), also known as IEAGHG, constitutes an autonomous and independent framework within the International Energy Agency (IEA) network. The GHG TCP's task is to assess the role that technologies can play in reducing greenhouse gas emissions from both the power system and from industrial processes.

THE VENUE

The Crown Perth Complex offers a world-class setting for GHGT-18, combining premium conference facilities, accommodation, and dining within one dynamic precinct. Overlooking the Swan River and close to the city centre, Crown Perth delivers an exceptional environment for connection, collaboration, and celebration – the perfect backdrop for sponsors to engage with a global audience and showcase their leadership in the low-carbon energy transition.
